

Come Visit Team NJ: Rutgers and NJIT as it competes in the SOLAR DECATHLON

Sept. 23–Oct. 2, 2011

•Weekdays: 10 a.m.–2 p.m.

•Weekends: 10 a.m.–5:30 p.m.

West Potomac Park, Washington D.C.

Every two years, the United States Department of Energy hosts one of the most impressive solar competitions in the world—the Solar Decathlon. Team New Jersey, made up of students from Rutgers University, the State University of New Jersey and the New Jersey Institute of Technology, aims to win by using an affordable and simple building material never before used in the competition.

Our team website is www.solarteamnj.com and the solar decathlon official site is www.solardecathlon.gov